Review of “Spatial Object-oriented database”

The article is conceptually well written and thorough. However there are many grammatical errors that need to be corrected. To name a few…paragraphs are needed (each sentence should not be a paragraph), comma’s come immediately after the word (eg. 1, 2, and 3. not 1 ,2 ,and 3). This paper should probably be reviewed by you project partner to help out with these changes. At this point, the errors really get in the way of reading the article. I don’t think it will help much to get a review until these changes are finished.
